

SIG FINAL REPORT: Getting Women Ahead

Co-PIs: Monica Nandan, Debarati Sen, Stuart Napshin and Pamila Dembla
AUG 2015

Summative Outcomes/lasting impact

1. Students will have a comprehensive, interdisciplinary understanding of women's issues and they will also have an appreciation of the innovative strategies employed by public, private and nonprofit sectors in addressing the issues.

CLASS DISCUSSIONS AND GUEST SPEAKERS ENRICHED STUDENT LEARNING.

STUDENTS PRESENTED INNOVATIVE PROJECTS RELATED TO "WOMEN'S ISSUES" IN THE U.S. SEE STUDENT EVALUATIONS ATTACHED.

2. Students would have developed relationships with faculty and students from TISS that could result in cultural exchanges through technology or in foreign travels in future years.

KSU FACULTY ARE PURUSING A SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP CERTIFICATE WITH TISS FACULTY FOR AY 2017.

3. The international relationships with TISS faculty can result in continuing partnerships for study abroad, guest-lectures through Skype, and will result in authorship of the article(s) describing the pedagogy and outcome of this project.

SEE ABOVE. KSU FACULTY ARE ALSO EXAMINING A BOOK PROPOSAL THAT WOULD BE JOINTLY DEVELOPED ADDRESSING SOCIAL ENTREPRENURSHIP FROM A SOCIAL STUDIES PERSPECTIVE.

4. The Co-PIs are planning to apply for the Obama-Singh International grant after reviewing the experience and the feedback from students in 2015. That grant builds on the work of this grant.
