As part of the Greek Bicentennial Anniversary, the Year of Greece was highlighted with a full program that brought together KSU students, faculty, staff, and the Greek-American community in Atlanta. Through transformative engagement opportunities, participants experienced unique learning opportunities that promoted the history and culture of Greece.

“The faculty’s Year of Greece programs led the KSU community on an engaging education experience and journey from ancient to modern Greece.”

-Dr. Todd Harper, Associate Professor of English
"I honestly consider the Year of Greece initiative a true gesture paying tribute to the legacy of the Greeks."

-Theodoros Dimopoulos, Consul General of Greece in Atlanta
